ALDERMEN DISCUSS MAYOR ATTACK HIS VETO

RESENT IMPUTATION THAT THEY HAVE COLD FEET—SAY THERE ARE AS MANY DRUNKS ON SUNDAY WHEN SALOONS ARE CLOSED AS ON WEEK DAYS WHEN THEY ARE OPEN —PRIVATE BARS.

Councilman Gideon Stolz, one of the most successful business men of this community, of which he has been a member for over 20 years and head of several committees in the city council, this morning in a statement to a Journal reporter, roundly roasted Mayor Rodgers for his attitude on the saloon license question as well as the wording of the veto. Stolz, as well as several other members of the council have taken extreme exception to the wording of Rodgers' veto in addition to statements he made while the council was in session in which he suggested by inference that some of the members had "cold feet."

Alderman Stolz Talks.
"Rodgers' veto not only casts reflection on the intelligence of the councilmen but on their intentions as well, and is filled with mis-statements. In the first place he states, in the veto, the ordinance proposed cuts the liquor license from $1000 down to $700. This is not true; on the other hand it raises the license from $400 to $700. When the matter of raising the license first came up, an ordinance was hastily drawn up raising the license to $1000 and was passed by the council, but realizing that was too extreme, the council voted to reconsider and referred it back to the license committee with the result that that committee, after due consideration and investigation, brought in the amended ordinance as it now stands with their approval.

"In the second place, the veto suggests all kinds of changes in the regulations of saloons, but this has not anything to do with the license whether it be $1000 or $700. If saloons are amoral and have back rooms and other bad features the laws should be changed to improve their condition no matter what the amount of license they pay.

"I believe in the fair treatment of saloons, if they are to be licensed at all. If the saloons are to be made to pay the high license, why does not Mayor Rodgers,—as he is such a moral man—bring an ordinance before the council which closes not alone the saloon,—but the drug store (as far as the selling of liquor is concerned) and the private bars particularly those in clubs. How does Mayor Rodgers explain his action in favoring the $100 license for drug stores selling liquor,—not as medicine but for drink the same as saloons—when a $300 has been suggested. This would inflict no hardship on the druggist who sells whiskey as a medicine only, for he would have to secure no license.

"One sees about as many drunkards on Sundays now as before the Sunday closing,—perhaps not among the tramps and hoboes. Where do they get the liquor—they don't get it in the saloons, for they are closed, and if they are not Mr. Rodgers ought to see to it that they are. The place where they get it is in the drug stores and private bars.

"When the matter comes up for a final vote on next Monday I will vote for the $700 license. I want to see the saloon get fair play and I want them to have the same rights as drug stores and private bars, for they are the recognized dispensers of liquor and they have to pay high for the privilege, but they have unfair competition against them for where they have to close at 12 o'clock, and on Sundays, the drug stores and private bars keep open all night, all Sunday and all the time."

Councilman W. H. Eldridge also disapproves of the motive of the mayor's veto and the wording of it. He stated this morning in speaking of the matter, as follows: "I have not yet decided how I will vote on the license at the meeting, but I want the saloon men to receive fair treatment and if they don't impose stronger restrictions on drug stores, I am very likely to stand by the $700 license."

A councilman, who does not wish his name published in connection with his statement, made the following statement attacking the sincerity of Mayor Rodgers, in his veto: "Rodgers has assumed the character of a demagogue by his veto. He suggests changes in his veto, which could be made without regard to the license. You do not hear him suggesting any license for the bar at the Illibee club, of which he is a member,—not even a regulation which would restrict the selling of liquor to the same hours as a saloon. Rodgers is a bluff; he's not such a moralist as he pretends and is not even a good church member."

Thus the merry war goes on.

Commission Reduces Rates.
The Oregon railroad commission today in a letter to J. N. Teal ordered a reduction in freight rates to all points in eastern Oregon east of The Dalles equivalent to one-sixth the rate in excess of the rate from Portland to The Dalles. By inference this affects all the rates in the interior of the state. This decision has been hastened by the fight Carter and several of the new aspirants for places on the board are making for reduced rates to the interior of the state.
